Fellowship-Trained Medical Oncologist
Angela Pennisi, M.D., Ph.D., Joins UAMS

LITTLE ROCK — Fellowship-trained medical oncologist Angela Pennisi, M.D., Ph.D., has joined the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences (UAMS). She sees patients in the UAMS Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute and is an assistant professor in the UAMS Division of Medical Oncology.

Pennisi earned her medical degree and doctoral degree in experimental hematology from the University of Catania in Italy, where she also completed fellowship training in hematology.

After serving as a postdoctoral research fellow at the UAMS Myeloma Institute, she completed a residency in internal medicine at UAMS, followed by additional advanced training in the UAMS Hematology/Oncology Fellowship program.

Pennisi is a member of the American Society of Clinical Oncology and the American Society of Hematology.

UAMS is the state's only comprehensive academic health center, with colleges of Medicine, Nursing, Pharmacy, Health Professions and Public Health; a graduate school; a hospital; a northwest Arkansas regional campus; a statewide network of regional centers; and seven institutes: the Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute, the Jackson T. Stephens Spine & Neurosciences Institute, the Myeloma Institute, the Harvey & Bernice Jones Eye Institute, the Psychiatric Research Institute, the Donald W. Reynolds Institute on Aging and the Translational Research Institute. It is the only adult Level 1 trauma center in the state. UAMS has 3,021 students, 789 medical residents and two dental residents. It is the state's largest public employer with more than 10,000 employees, including about 1,000 physicians and other professionals who provide care to patients at UAMS, Arkansas Children's Hospital, the VA Medical Center and UAMS regional centers throughout the state.
